(Passed February 3d, 1830.)

1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly, That there be, and is hereby erected and established, at or near Boydton, in the county of Mecklenburg, in this Commonwealth, a seminary of learning for the instruction of youth in the various branches of science and literature, the useful arts, agriculture, and the learned and foreign languages.

2. And be it further enacted, That the said seminary shall be known and called by the name of Randolph-Macon College.

3. And be it further enacted, That Hezekiah Leigh, John Early, Edward Cannon, W. A. Smith, William I. Waller, Thomas Crowder, Moses Brock, James Boyd, William Hammett, Caleb Leach, Matthew M. Dance, Lewis Skidmore, Augustine Claiborne, Ethelbert Drake, Henry Fitts, John Nutall, James Wyche, John P. Harrison, Grenville Penn, Walker Timberlake, John G. Claiborne, Howell Taylor, James Smith, Joel Blackwell, John Y. Mason, James Garland, Richard G. Morris, John W. Lewis, William O. Goode, and Nathaniel Alexander, be and are hereby constituted and appointed trustees of said College, who and their successors shall be a body politic and corporate by the name of "The Trustees of Randolph-Macon College," who shall have a perpetual succession and a common seal, and by the name aforesaid, they and their successors shall be capable in law to possess, purchase, receive and retain to them and their successors forever, any lands, tenements, rents, goods, chattels or interests of any kind whatsoever, which may have been already given, or by them purchased for the use of said College; to dispose of the same in any way whatsoever they shall adjudge most useful to the interests and legal purposes of the institution; and by the same name to sue and implead, be sued and impleaded, answer and be answered in all courts of law and equity; and under their common seal to make and establish, from time to time, such by-laws, rules and ordinances, not contrary to the laws and

Constitution of this Commonwealth, as shall by them be thought essential to the good order and government of the professors, masters and students of said College.

4. And be it further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the President and Trustees of the Boynton academies (if so disposed) to convey to the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College for the use of said College, the lots and houses in the town of Boynton, at this time held and owned by the said President and Trustees of the Boynton academies.

5. And be it further enacted, That the said Trustees shall, at some future time convenient to themselves, fix on some day, specified and duly announced by publication in some newspaper published in the city of Richmond, and city of Raleigh, in the State of North Carolina, for the election of a President, professors and masters of said College, such as they shall judge necessary for the purpose of the institution. The President shall preside in all meetings of the Board of Trustees, unless unavoidably absent; in such case a President pro tempore shall be elected from their own body; but in no case shall the President be entitled to a vote.

6. And be it further enacted, That the said President and Trustees, or any seven of them, shall have full power and authority to meet at such times as they shall think necessary for the examination of any candidates for literary degrees, on such persons as in their opinion shall merit the same, in as ample a manner as any other College of this Commonwealth can do; and under their common seal to grant testimonials thereof; signed by the President and seven of the Trustees at least. The President and seven Trustees shall at any time form a quorum for business; and should there be at any meeting less than seven, they shall have the power of adjourning from day to day, or to any future day, until a quorum shall be had.

7. And be it further enacted, That the said Trustees, or a quorum of them, shall annually elect a treasurer for said College, who shall give bond, with approved security, payable to the Trustees by their name aforesaid, and their successors conditioned faithfully to discharge the duties of his said office, and shall render an account of all moneys, goods and chattels, received and expended by him on account of, and for the use of said College; and on failure or refusal to do so, shall be subject to the like proceedings as are prescribed by law in the case of sheriffs failing to account for and pay into the Treasury of this Commonwealth the public taxes collected by them: such proceedings to be conducted in the name of the Trustees in their corporate and politic character aforesaid.

8. And be it further enacted, That the said Trustees, or a quorum of them, shall have power to remove or suspend the President or any of the masters at any time for good cause, and also, two-thirds concurring, to remove any of the Trustees for good cause, and to supply the vacancy occasioned by such removal, and when there be a vacancy occasioned by death, removal, resignation, or refusal to act, the remaining Trustees, or a quorum of them, shall supply the vacancy. It shall also be lawful for the President (or in case of his death, resignation, or refusal to act), the professor and masters for the time being, or a majority of them, to call a meeting of the Trustees, when he or they, as the case may be, shall deem it expedient.

9. And be it further enacted, That the President and Trustees of said College, before they enter upon the discharge of the duties of their office, shall severally take the following oath or affirmation, to be administered by any justice of the peace of the county of Mecklenburg, and by him certified to the court of said county, there to be recorded: That is to say, "I (A. B.), do swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will, to the best of my skill and judgment, discharge the duties required of me as a Trustee (or President) of Randolph-Macon College, according to the act of incorporation, without partiality, favor, or affection: So help me God."

10. And be it further enacted, That whenever any Trustee shall absent himself from three consecutive meetings of the Board of Trustees, having been duly notified of such meeting, without assigning a sufficient reason, at the fourth, the Trustees of said College, or a quorum of them, shall have power by entry on their minutes, to declare his seat vacant, and proceed to the election of a new Trustee to supply such vacancy.

11. And be it further enacted, That the said Trustees and their successors are hereby authorized, so far as their funds may warrant, to admit gratuitously, in whole or in part, as their respective cases may require, such person or persons as they may think proper.

12. And be it further enacted, That the Trustees of said College shall have power to establish a department of agriculture in said College: Provided, nevertheless, that no pupil or student in the College aforesaid shall be required to study or labor in said department in any manner contrary to the wishes of the person or persons at whose charge and by whom such student or pupil has been placed in the institution aforesaid.

13. And be it further enacted, That there shall be annual stated meetings of the said Board of Trustees, to be held at such time as the said Trustees shall at their first meetings under the authority of this act appoint; but they shall have power at any subsequent meeting to alter such day as to them may seem expedient, and so on from time to time. It shall be the duty of the said Board of Trustees to make an annual report of the general condition of the College to the President and Directors of the Literary Fund, to be by them communicated to the General Assembly.

14. And be it further enacted, That the said Board of Trustees shall never be less than twenty-four nor more than forty in number.

15. And be it further enacted, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as at any time to authorize the establishment of a theological professorship in said College.

16. This act shall be in force from and after the passage thereof.

CHAP. 216.—An ACT Amending and Re-enacting an Act entitled an Act to Incorporate the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, passed February 3, 1830, and Ratifying the Removal of said College from Boydton to Ashland.

Approved July 9, 1870.

Whereas, the Board of Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, deeming it necessary for the prosperity and existence of said institution that the site of its operations should be changed from near Boydton, in the county of Mecklenburg, to Ashland, in the county of Hanover, did, in September, eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, change said site to Ashland, at which place the operations of the College have since been and are now successfully conducted; and whereas, it is important that all doubts respecting the validity of said action should be quieted: therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly, That the act entitled an act to incorporate the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, passed February third, eighteen hundred and thirty, be amended and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

“§ 1. That the removal of the aforesaid College is hereby ratified and confirmed, and that there be and is hereby established at Ashland, in the county of Hanover, in this commonwealth, a seminary of learning for the instruction of youth in the various branches of science and literature, the useful arts, agriculture, and the learned and foreign languages.

“§ 2. That the said seminary shall be known and called by the name of Randolph-Macon College.

“§ 3. That Hezekiah Leigh, John Early, Edward Cannon, W. A. Smith, William I. Waller, Thomas Crowder, Moses Brock, James Boyd, William Hammett, Caleb Leech, Mathew M. Dance, Lewis Skidmore, Augustine Claiborne, Ethelbert Drake, Henry Fitz, John Nutall, James Wyche, John P. Harrison, Greenville Penn, Walker Timberlake, John G. Claiborne, Howell Taylor, James Smith, Joel Blackwell, John Y. Mason, James Garland, Richard G. Morris, John W. Lewis, William O. Goode and Nathaniel Alexander be and are hereby constituted and appointed trustees of said College, who and their successors shall be a body politic and corporate, by the name of The Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, who shall have perpetual succession and a common seal, and, by the name aforesaid, they and their successors shall be capable in law to possess, purchase, receive and retain to them and their successors forever, any lands, tenements, rents, goods, chattels, or interest of any kind whatsoever, which may have already been given, or may hereafter be given, or by them purchased for the use of said College, to dispose of the same in any way whatsoever they shall adjudge most useful to the interests and legal purposes of the institution, and by the same name to sue and implead, be sued and impleaded, answer and be answered, in all courts of law and equity, and under their common seal to make and establish from time to time such by-laws, rules and ordinances, not contrary to the laws and constitution of this commonwealth, as shall by them be thought essential to the good order and government of the professors, masters, and students of said College.

“§ 5. That the said Trustees shall elect the President, professors and such other officers as they may judge necessary for the purposes of the institution.

“§ 6. That the said President and Trustees, or any seven of them, shall have full power and authority to meet at such times as they shall think necessary, for the examination of any candidates for literary degrees, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to confer such degrees on such persons as in their opinion shall merit the same, in as ample a manner as any other college of this commonwealth can do and under their common seal to grant testimonials thereof, signed by the President and seven of the Trustees at least. The President and seven Trustees shall at any time form a quorum for business; and should there be at any meeting less than seven, they shall have the power of adjourning from day today, or to any future day, until a quorum shall be had.

“§ 7. That the said Trustees, or a quorum of them, shall annually elect a treasurer for said College, who shall give bond with approved security, payable to the trustees by their name aforesaid, and their successors, conditioned faithfully to discharge the duties of his said office, and shall render an account of all moneys, goods and chattels received and expended by him on account of and for the use of said College; and on failure or refusal so to do, shall be subject to the like proceedings as are prescribed by law in the case of sheriffs or other officers charged with the collection of the public revenue failing to account for and pay into the treasury of this commonwealth the public taxes collected by them; such proceedings to be conducted in the name of the trustees in their corporate and politic character aforesaid.

“§ 8. That the said Trustees, or a quorum of them, shall have power to remove or suspend the President or any of the masters at any time for good cause; and also, two thirds concurring, to remove any of the Trustees for good cause, and to supply the vacancy occasioned by such removal; and when there shall be a vacancy occasioned by death, removal, resignation, or refusal to act, the remaining Trustees, or a quorum of them, shall supply the vacancy. It shall also be lawful for the President, or in case of his death, removal, resignation, or refusal to act, the professors and masters for the time being, or a majority of them, to call a meeting of the Trustees, when he or they, as the case may be shall deem it inexpedient.

“§ 9. That the President and Trustees of said College, before they enter upon the discharge of the duties of their office, shall severally take the following oath of affirmation, to be administered by any one duly qualified to administer an oath—that is to say: ‘I (A. B. ) do swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will, to the best of my skill and judgment, discharge the duties required of me as a Trustee (or President) of Randolph-Macon College, according to the act of incorporation, without partiality, favor or affection. So help me God.’

“§ 10. That whenever any Trustee shall absent himself from three successive meetings of the Board of Trustees, having been duly notified of such meetings, without assigning a sufficient reason at the fourth, the Trustees of said College, or a quorum of them, shall have power, by entry on their minutes, to declare his seat vacant, and proceed to the election of a new Trustee to supply such vacancy.

"§ 11. That said Trustees and their successors are hereby authorized, so far as their funds may warrant, to admit gratuitously, in whole or in part, as their respective cases may require, such person or persons as they may think proper.

"§ 12. That the Trustees of said College shall have power to establish a department of agriculture in said College: provided, nevertheless, that no pupil or student in the college aforesaid shall be required to study or labor in said department in any manner contrary to the wishes of the person or persons at whose charge and by whom such student or pupil has been placed in the institution aforesaid.

"§ 13. That there shall be annual stated meetings of the said Board of Trustees at such other times as the said Board of Trustees may appoint.

"§ 14. That the said Board of Trustees shall never be less than twenty-four nor more than forty in number.

"§ 15. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

"§ 16. This act shall be in force from its passage."

CHAP. 171.—An ACT to Amend the Charter of Randolph-Macon College.

Approved April 9, 1874.

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That the sixth and fourteenth sections of an act entitled an act amending and re-enacting an act to incorporate the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, passed February third, eighteen hundred and thirty, and ratifying the removal of said College from Boynton to Ashland, be amended and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

"§ 6. That the said Trustees, or any seven of them, shall have full power and authority to meet at such times and places as they shall think necessary, for the examination of any candidates for literary degrees, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to confer such degrees on such persons as in their opinion shall merit the same, in as ample a manner as any other college of this Commonwealth can do, and under their common seal to grant testimonials thereof, signed by the President of the faculty of the institution and by seven of the Trustees at least. Seven Trustees shall, at any time, form a quorum for business; and should there be at any meeting less than seven, they shall have the power of adjourning from day to day, or to any future day, until a quorum shall be had."

"§ 14. That the said Board of Trustees shall never be less than twenty-four nor more than forty-four, one of whom shall be elected by the board President thereof: provided, also, that no member of the faculty or board of instruction in the College, shall be a member of the Board of Trustees."

2. This act shall be in force from its passage.

CHAP. 332.—An ACT to Amend and Re-enact Section 14 of an Act Entitled an Act to Incorporate the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, etc., passed February 3, 1830, as Amended by an Act Entitled an Act to Amend the Charter of Randolph-Macon College, approved April 9, 1874.

Approved March 31, 1875

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly, That the fourteenth section of an act entitled an act amending and re-enacting an act to incorporate the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, passed February third, eighteen hundred and thirty, and ratifying the removal of said College from Boydton to Ashland, as amended by an act entitled an act to amend the charter of Randolph-Macon College, approved April ninth, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, be amended and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

§ 14. That the said Board of Trustees shall never be less than twenty-four, nor more than forty-four, one of whom shall be elected by the Board President thereof.

2. This act shall be in force from its passage.

CHAP. 187.—An ACT to Amend and Re-enact Section 3 of an Act Entitled an Act Amending an Act to Incorporate the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, approved February 3, 1830, and Ratifying the Removal of said College from Boydton to Ashland, approved July 9, 1870.

Approved February 7, 1890

1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia, That section three of an act entitled "an act amending an act entitled an act to incorporate the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, passed February third, eighteen hundred and thirty, and ratifying the removal of said College from Boydton to Ashland," approved July ninth, eighteen hundred and seventy, be amended and re-enacted so as to read, as follows:

SEC. 3. That Hezekiah Lee, John Early, Edward Cannon, W. A. Smith, William J. Waller, Thomas Crowder, Moses Brock, James Boyd, William Hammett, Caleb Leech, Matthew M. Dance, Lewis Skidmore, Augustine Claiborne, Ethelbert Drake, Henry Fitts, John Nutall, James Wyche, John P. Harrison, Greenville Penn, Walker Timberlake, Jno. G. Claiborne, Howell Taylor, James Smith, Joel Blackwell, John Y. Mason, James Garland, Richard G. Morris, John W. Lewis, William O. Goode and Nathaniel Alexander be, and they are hereby, constituted Trustees of said College, who, and their successors, shall be a body politic and corporate by the name of the Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, who shall have perpetual succession and a common seal, and by the name aforesaid they are, and their successors shall be, capable in law to possess, purchase, receive and retain to them and their successors forever any lands, tenements, rents, goods, chattels, or interest of any kind whatsoever which may have already been given or by them purchased, or may hereafter be given, or by them purchased, for the use of said College, to erect, estab*lish, and maintain upon any such lands or tenements such schools, academies, or other institutions of learning for the instruction of the youth of the land, as to them may seem desirable, and to dispose of them in any way whatsoever they shall adjudge most useful to the interests and legal purposes of the institution, to give bonds, notes, or other evidences of debt, and to secure the same by deeds of trust upon the property of the institution, and by the same name to sue and implead, be sued and impleaded, answer and be answered in all courts of law and equity, and under their common seal to make and establish from time to time such by-laws, rules, and ordinances not contrary to the laws and constitution of this Commonwealth as shall by them be thought essential to the good order and government of the professors, masters, and students, of said College, schools, academies or other institutions, established by them under the authority of this act.*

This act shall be in force from its passage.

This charter by the General Assembly is a matter of special interest in showing Randolph-Macon to be now the oldest Methodist College in America, by date of incorporation.

The movement to establish the College was begun in response to the recommendation of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1824, which was "that each Annual Conference establish a seminary of learning under its own regulations and patronage." The Virginia Conference at its session in the following year considered the question of "establishing such a seminary." The chief promoters of the undertaking—the "founders" of Randolph-Macon—were the Rev. Hezekiah G. Leigh, of the Virginia Conference, and Gabriel P. Disosway, a wise and liberal layman, both of them at that time residing in the city of Petersburg.

In April, 1830, the Board of Trustees was formally organized. The Rev. John Early was the first chairman; the Rev. William A. Smith the first secretary.

The erection of a suitable building was authorized, and the work begun as soon as practicable. The site was near the village of Boydton, Mecklenburg county, Va. This situation, near the line of Virginia and North Carolina, was chosen with the view to the accommodation of both the chief patronizing States—Virginia and North Carolina.

Randolph-Macon began its scholastic work in January, 1832, when Hugh A. Garland, brother to Dr. Landon C. Garland, taught the first class in the preparatory department. The College proper began its work the next October, with the Rev. Martin P. Parks as President pro tempore. The Rev. John Emory, afterwards Bishop, was the first president elect. The Rev. Stephen Olin was the first to accept and serve.

The first graduate was John C. Blackwell, of Virginia, whose diploma was conferred in June, 1835. The first class taking the whole four years' course received their degrees the next year. From that time continuously, with the exception of several years during and immediately after the war, classes have been graduated.

For many years the career of the College was a struggle for existence; but during these years of stress and trial, without endowment, it did a great and useful work. Many of the foremost men of Methodism were connected with it; and from its body of students went out men of renown in Church and State, not a few whose lives have proved a signal blessing to the world.

The first regular endowment fund was raised, just before the war between the States, by President Wm. A. Smith and the Rev. H. B. Cowles. But the war closed the doors of the College and rendered the most of its endowment worthless.

In 1866 it was reopened under serious embarrassment. Railways had been destroyed by the war; the nearest was now a day's journey from the College. Besides, the North Carolina Conference had established a college of its own, whose patronizing territory was almost in sight of Randolph-Macon. On the other hand, the Baltimore Conference, at its session in March, 1867, had offered its patronage to the College, and had been admitted into participation in its supervision and privileges. Under these circumstances the removal of the institution to a more suitable locality became necessary.

Happily the ideal leader in this hazardous new departure was secured in the person of the Rev. James A. Duncan, D. D., an alumnus of the class of 1849, and one of the most highly gifted men of his day. Under his presidency the College began its career at Ashland, Va., its present site, September, 1868, and very soon it reached a height of prosperity and influence to which it had never before attained. In its service the President laid down his life, universally loved and honored.

The successor of Dr. Duncan was the Rev. W. W. Bennett, D. D., an able and faithful worker. In the year 1886, Dr. Bennett, in broken health, resigned, and in the same year Dr. Wm. W. Smith was elected President.

Under Dr. Smith's administration the endowment was largely increased; four new buildings were erected, including a new gymnasium; physical culture was made a part of the course, and the library and the laboratories were greatly enlarged and improved.

But the most notable feature of this administration was the founding of the Academies at Bedford City and Front Royal, and the Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg.

All these institutions, together with the parent College and the Danville Institute for young ladies, are now under one Board of Trustees, and are united in a single educational system.

In the year 1896 Dr. Smith was made Chancellor of the Randolph-Macon System of Colleges and Academies, and Dr. J. A. Kern was elected President of the College.

President Kern resigned in 1899, and Rev. W. G. Starr, A. M., D. D., was elected President, but resigned in 1902, and R. E. Blackwell, A. M., LL. D. was elected as his successor.

General Information

Location

ASHLAND is immediately on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, and the Richmond and Chesapeake Bay Electric Railroad, sixteen miles north of Richmond, upon the most elevated plateau between that city and Fredericksburg, Va. The location is distinguished for healthfulness and accessibility. On this account the village of Ashland was originally incorporated as a summer resort, and is much frequented during the heated term, while the comparative infrequency and the brief duration of severely cold weather make it especially favorable to health and comfort during the College session. The severe pneumonia and violent fevers of the mountains and the malarial diseases of the Tidewater regions are comparatively unknown. There are no saloons in the town or the county.

Nine passenger trains each way stop at the College daily, and frequent trips are made by the electric cars. Telegraphic and long distance telephone connections are had with all parts of the country. Mail six times a day.

Grounds and Buildings

The campus contains about twelve acres, beautified and shaded by a fine grove of oaks and maples. It has been thoroughly under-drained; gravel walks have been laid out, and many other improvements conducive to the comfort and convenience of the students have been made.

The buildings, besides professors' residences, are five cottage dormitories, Branch Memorial Dormitory, the Pace Lecture-Room Building and Chemical Laboratory, the Duncan Memorial Chapel, the Library and Halls of the Literary Societies, the Gymnasium, and the Pettyjohn Hall of Science for lecture rooms and laboratories for practical work in Physics and Biology.

We publish a handsome Illustrated Booklet containing over fifty views of the grounds and buildings which we will be glad to mail to anyone upon request.

The Observatory contains a five-inch equatorial refracting telescope, transit instrument, sextant, etc.

Libraries

Libraries consist (1) of one main collection of books on general subjects hardly second to any in Virginia after those of the State Library in Richmond and of the University. Probably the most useful department of the central library is the large collection of bound magazines, dating back in some instances to 1830. These magazine files are well bound and readily accessible owing to card catalogue recently installed. The general reading room of the College is in the main library rooms, and it carries on its tables a comprehensive list of American and English periodicals:

(2) Of special memorial collections such as the Darden English, Walton Classical, and Bennett Historical Libraries, which are, like the main library, open daily to all students. These collections are replenished from year to year out of the funds accruing from endowments given respectively by George E. Walton, Esq., of Hanover County, Va., in memory of his son; A. S. Darden, Esq., of Norfolk, Va., in memory of his son and James Cannon, D. D., of Blackstone, Va., in honor of his father-in-law, Dr. W. W. Bennett, for a long time President of the College:

(3) Of department libraries intended for use under the immediate discretion of the various professors. The most important of these are the Chemical, Biological and Historical collections. A large collection of Government documents, including the Congressional Debates, is kept in a special room adjoining the History lecture rooms. These may be consulted freely under the guidance of the professor of that department.

The main library is open every day, except Sunday from 9:30 A. M. to 6:30 P. M.

Literary Societies

The Washington and Franklin Literary Societies, meeting weekly in their large and elegantly furnished halls for literary and oratorical exercises, are admirably conducted and enthusiastically sustained. They afford to every member an opportunity to acquaint himself practically with the methods of procedure in public assemblies, and with the duties of presiding and recording officers, and give invaluable practice in declamation and debate under the stimulus of a generous emulation for the rewards offered by them for excellence or for progress. They also edit and publish the "Randolph-Macon Monthly", a literary Magazine and issue each session the "Yellow Jacket", a handsomely bound and illustrated College Annual. A student who fails to identify himself with one or the other of these Societies loses an unusual opportunity to secure for himself privileges of great value.

Religious Opportunities

The daily work of the College is begun with religious exercises in the Chapel.

The Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Christian and Baptist churches of the village hold each two public services on the Sabbath, and at least one during the week, and the students provide frequent social religious meetings for their own benefit.

Bible classes conducted in the College Chapel on Sabbath mornings, offer opportunity for Bible study under the instruction of the professors and officers of the College and other selected teachers, in addition to the course in the English Bible offered as regular College work. Several preaching appointments in the neighborhood are regularly filled by ministerial students.

Young Men's Christian Association.—This organization in the College offers many advantages to its members. It unites young men of different denominational preferences in bonds of mutual sympathy and fellowship, and gives Christian students, while away from their home-churches helpful privileges and duties as members of a world-wide religious organization. Under its auspices, varied and interesting religious exercises are held in the dormitories and in its own beautifully furnished room on the campus, and seven Sunday-schools are sustained in the neighborhood.

Government

Every student entering the College is presumed to be a gentleman, and so long as he remains connected with it, is treated as such. In particular, his word is relied upon implicitly, and in all matters touching his own conduct is called for and accepted as the basis of action. This confidence in the integrity of our students lies at the foundation of our intercourse with them, and when any student forfeits it, he must be immediately excluded from the College. The one broad rule of Randolph-Macon is that all are required to conduct themselves in a moral, gentlemanly and student-like manner. In defining these terms, such special regulations and admonitions will be given as circumstances may call for. All that concerns the physical, mental and moral well-being of our students enlists our affectionate solicitude. We stand to them as friends, counsellors and guides, and, while exercising our authority with freedom and firmness, shall expect their obedience to be based rather upon a sense of right and an appreciation of the necessity of system and order than upon the fear of set penalties. When a young man cannot be influenced by appeals to these motives, we do not consider him prepared for college.

No student found to be dissipated or persistently idle can be retained. We shall seek earnestly to reform any such, but our duty to others under our care will not allow the effort to be long continued. No pains shall be spared to maintain a pure and wholesome moral atmosphere; and whenever, for any reason, we are satisfied that the presence of any student is corrupting others, or that his influence is felt for evil in the College, we shall refund the proportionate part of the fees paid, and require his withdrawal.

Class Organization

After an experience of many years, during which both methods have been tested, we deem a well-guarded elective system preferable, under existing circumstances, to the curriculum. It affords an advanced student, having special aims, the privilege of pursuing a desired course, and it enables the Faculty to assign suitable work to those who are without uniform preparation, or who cannot remain long enough to complete the full course required for a degree.

Instruction is given by text-books and lectures. The effort is made to secure thorough scholarship, and students are retained in lower, or returned from higher to lower classes, until the professor considers them qualified to advance.

As each undergraduate course is satisfactorily completed, a certificate therefor is issued to the student. When the work prescribed in the entire course of instruction in any subject is satisfactorily completed by an approved examination, the student is awarded a Certificate of Proficiency in that subject.

Choice of Studies

Students will be enrolled in appropriate classes after conference with the President and the Professors. Each one is required to have not less than fifteen recitations a week, unless there are special reasons to the contrary, and no study can be changed or discontinued without the consent of the Faculty.

Degrees

The degrees conferred are Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. The attainments required to secure these degrees are as follows:

1. For the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B. )

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS.

There are seven groups of studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, the following classes being required in every group:

Latin I	German I	Chemistry I
English I, II	Mathematics I	History I
French I	Plane Trigonometry	Moral Philosophy I

One year's membership in a literary society.

One year of Physical Culture.

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR SPECIAL GROUPS

Classics:

Latin II, III; Greek I, II, III; English III; Biology I or Physics.

Modern Languages and Classics:

German II; French II; English III; Biology I or Physics; Greek I; and two additional years in the Classics, i. e. Latin II, III or Greek II, III or Latin II and Greek II.

English and Modern Languages:

English III; German II; French II; Greek I; Latin II or Greek II; History II or Economics; Biology I or Physics.

History and Political Science:

History II, III; Economics; Mathematics II; English III or German II or French II; Mathematics III or Latin II; Moral Philosophy II; Biology I or Physics and Astronomy.

Science:

Chemistry II; Geology; Biology I, II; Physics; Mathematics II, III; German II or French II or Mathematics IV; Astronomy; Economics.

Mathematics:

Mathematics II, III, IV; German II or French II; Biology I; Physics; Astronomy; Moral Philosophy II; Economics.

English Bible:

English Bible I, II; Moral Philosophy II; Greek I, II; Latin II or Greek III or English III; Biology I or Physics and Astronomy; Economics.

2. For the degree of Master of Arts (A. M.): Graduation with distinction in four subjects besides those taken for A. B.

Proficiency Diplomas are awarded for approved examinations when subjects are completed.

Certificates of Distinction are awarded for proficiency in the studies pursued in the undergraduate years.

Prizes

There are five regular prizes in addition to the Literary Societies' Medals publicly awarded at each Commencement.

1. "The Sutherlin Prize Medal for Oratory," established by Major W. T. Sutherlin, of Danville, Va., 1872, is presented to the best orator who shall contend for the same, to be decided by three competent judges, having no official connection with the College, selected by the Trustees.

2. "The Walton Prize for Greek Scholarship," established in 1872 by Mr. George E. M. Walton, of Hanover county, Va., is presented to the student who, in the judgment of the Faculty, by his progress and attainment in Greek studies, has best deserved it.

3. "The H. W. Murray Medals," were established in 1889 by legacy of Mrs. W. R. Goodwin, of Louisa county, Va., in memory of her father, Hon. H. W. Murray. There are two of these medals. The first, called the "Murray Medal for Proficiency," is awarded each year to the student who, having not fewer than four college classes, has made the highest average on all his examinations of that session. The second, called the "Murray Medal for Scholarship," is awarded each year to the student who takes A. B. or A. M., and who has made the highest average upon examinations in graduating classes of the A. B. course.

4. "The Bennett Memorial Historical Medal," established in 1899 by Rev. James Cannon, Jr., D. D. in memory of the Rev. W. W. Bennett, D. D., is awarded to the student who presents the best historical essay on some subject assigned by the Professor of History.

5. "The William A. Shepard Chemical Department Medal," founded by the family of the late Mrs. Mattie Davis Shepard, to be awarded to the student who attains the highest grade in the Chemistry course.

Examinations

There are two examinations, conducted in writing, one at the close of the half-session in January, the other at the close of the session in June. A student who fails to pass an approved examination loses his right to advance to a higher class.

Reports

A report of the standing of each student is made to the parent or guardian at the end of every five weeks during the session, and such special remarks are appended as each case may suggest.

Requirements for Admission

The requirements for admission are the same as those of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Southern States of which Randolph-Macon College is a member. The College will accept the uniform entrance examination papers of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Southern States, when such papers are properly vouched for.

Applicants for admission to College who bring from an accredited school certificates of proficiency upon subjects required for entrance are allowed to enter without examination.

All others are required to stand an approved examination upon:

1. Mathematics.
2. English.
3. One other subject chosen from the following:

Latin, History, German, French, Greek, Science. The preparation required in the various subjects is indicated in the following statements:

1. MATHEMATICS.—The requirements for admission to the first year's work in Mathematics embrace:

1. Arithmetic.

2. Algebra to Quadratic Equations. The preparation should include an accurate knowledge of the fundamental operations, equations of the first degree with applications to problems involving two or more unknown quantities, factoring, involution, evolution, fractional and negative exponents, radicals and the elementary theory of imaginaries.

3. Plane Geometry. The requirements consist of three books in one of the larger American text-books and include the following subjects: The properties of plane rectilineal figures, limits, the circle and the measure of angles, proportion and similar figures, with facility in applying geometrical principles in solution of exercises.

Students who enter Mathematics without adequate preparation are at a great disadvantage. Instead of giving their time to new work, they are forced to spend much of it in trying to learn things they are supposed to know. They are unable to keep up with their classes, and soon become discouraged.

II. ENGLISH.—A. Grammar and Rhetoric. It is required that a student shall have mastered some grammar like Whitney's Essentials of English Grammar and some elementary rhetoric like Genung's Outline of Rhetoric or Hill's Foundation of Rhetoric.

B. Reading. It is also required that a student have (1) a gen- eral knowledge of the following works and their authors: George Eliot's Silas Marner; Shakspeare's Merchant of Venice and Julius Caesar; The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in The Spectator; Tennyson's Princess; Goldsmith's Vicar of Wakefield; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner; Scott's Ivanhoe; Lowell's The Vision of Sir Launfal; Carlyle's Essay on Burns. (2) A special knowledge of the subject matter, the literary form and the logical structure of the following works: Shakespeare's Macbeth; Milton's L'Allegro; Il Penseroso; Comus, and Lycidas; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Macaulay's Essays on Milton and Addison.

III. LATIN.—For admission to the first-year class in Latin, candidates are required to be prepared for an examination upon the following subjects:

1. Caesar. The first four books of the Gallic War.
2. Cicero. Four orations (or their equivalent).
3. Latin Grammar. The inflections; the simpler rules for composition and derivation of words; the syntax of cases and verbs; the structure of the sentence in general, together with a knowledge of the subordinate clause.

4. Latin Composition. Translation into Latin of detached sentences illustrating the general rules of syntax, or of a passage of easy prose.

IV. HISTORY.—History of the United States of America, History of Greece and Rome, or English History (one year's work).

V. GRAMMAR.—Elementary Grammar, composition, and not less than 100 pages of easy reading (one College year's work).

VI. FRENCH.—Same as German, but 200 pages of reading (one College year's work).

VII. GREEK.—Three books of Xenophon's Anabasis (or equivalent) with accompanying work in Grammar and prose composition (one College year's work).

VIII. SCIENCE.—Physical Geography or Physics, or Chemistry, or Botany, or Physiocology (one year's work).

Conditional Students

A student who passes approved entrance examinations in two subjects (or brings certificates on two subjects) but fails on the third can enter on condition that he passes the third Examination before Christmas.

Courses of Instruction

The subjects in which instruction is given in the College are Latin, Greek, English, German, French, Mathematics, Chemistry, Geology and Mineralogy, Physics, Astronomy, Biology, History and Economics, Moral Philosophy, the English Bible, and Physical Culture.

In these subjects courses of study are arranged leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, and Master of Arts, as before set forth.

Latin

PROFESSOR BOWEN

The work of the first year is designed to broaden the student's acquaintance with Cicero, Vergil and Ovid, and, by means of the study of grammar and weekly exercises, to give him a more thorough knowledge of the case-relations and the fundamental principles of Latin prosody. The work of the second year offers a more extended course in syntax and prose composition, and embraces a course of reading in Seneca, the Roman historians (chiefly Livy and Tacitus), and the Roman elegiac poets (chiefly Catullus and Propertius). The work of the third year is intended to give the student, not only a comprehensive knowledge of classical Latin, but also to make him acquainted with pre-classical Latin; and, by the course in Latin literature, to give the student a general introduction to all the Roman authors. The courses of this year include Roman satire and dramatic poetry. Throughout the entire course an effort is made to study the government and the private life of the Romans as well as their literature and language.

First Year

1. Cicero's De Senectute and De Amicitia; Gildersleeve's Grammar (3d edition) and Exercise Book. Four hours a week during the first term.

2. Vergil's Æneid and Pastoral Poems; the elements of Latin versification, including the Hexameter; Grammar and Exercises. Four hours a week during the second term.

3. Ovid's Metamorphoses. One hour a week throughout the year.

TEXT-BOOKS—Cicero's De Senectute (Moore's) and De Amicitia (Price's); Ovid's Metamorphoses (Allen and Greenough); Vergil (Nettleship); Vergil's Bucolics and Æneid (Greenough and Kittredge, Bennett, Harper and Miller); Gildersleeve's Latin Grammar (third edition) and Exercise Book.

Second Year

1. Roman History.—Livy, XXI and XXII; collateral reading including especially the Punic Wars; Grammar and Exercises. Three hours a week during the first term.

2. Tacitus, Germania and Agricola; Private Life of the Romans; Grammar and Exercises. Two hours a week during the second term.

3. Roman Elegiac Poetry.—Select Elegies of Propertius, Tibullus and Catullus. One hour a week throughout the year.

4. Seneca's Moral Essays and selections from Lucretius.—Two hours a week during the second term.

TEXT-BOOKS—Livy, Books XXI and XXII (Westcott, or Lord) Tacitus's Agricola and Germania (Hopkins or Gudeman); The Private Life of the Romans (Preston and Dodge); Catullus (Merrill); Propertius (Postgate); Lucretius; Seneca's Moral Essays (Hurst and Whiting); Grammar and Exercise Book as in first year.

Third Year

1. Roman Satire.—Juvenal and Horace's Satires; lectures on the origin and development of the satire; weekly exercises. Two hours a week during the first term.

2. Roman Drama.—Plautus' Miles Gloriosus, Terence's Phormio; lectures on the origin and development of the drama. Two hours a week during the second term.

3. Horace's Odes and Epistles; prosody, including the scansion of the odes read; weekly original exercises, based on some Ciceronian text. Two hours a week during the second term.

4. Roman Literature. One hour a week during the year. Monthly essays on assigned themes in the study of Roman literature are required.

TEXT-BOOKS—Bennett and Rolfe's Horace; Moore's Edition of Odes and Epodes; Palmer's Edition of Satires; Hardy's or Wright's Juvenal; Tyrrell's Miles Gloriosus of Plautus, or Fays' Mostellaria; Elmer's Phormio of Terence, or Fairclough's Andria; Mackail's Latin Literature; Appendix to Bennett's Latin Grammar, as reference book on historical grammar; Henry's Comparative Grammar of Greek and Latin; Lindsay's Latin Language, and Harper's Latin Dictionary.

Fourth Year

The work of this year is designed to meet the case of those students who intend to take an advanced course in Latin at some of the leading universities, and who, therefore, desire a more extended course than that required for the A. B. degree.

1. The letters of Pliny and of Cicero, with special study of Roman private antiquities. Two hours a week during the first term.

2. Early Latin.—Study of inscriptions and fragments of the early literature. One hour a week during the first term.

3. Sight-reading.—Two hours a week during the second term.

4. Historical Latin Grammar.—One hour a week during the second term.

NOTE.—The text-books used in the above courses will be announced later.

Greek

PROFESSOR JONES

The work of this department extends over a period of three years in the College course proper, but a year of introductory study in Greek is provided for in consequence of the common neglect of this subject in preparatory schools.

The courses of reading, in which there is steady effort to express adequately the thought of the Greek author in clear, idiomatic English, begin at the close of the classical period and follow the stream of Greek literature back to its sources. Much importance is attached to syntactical study, which begins with the grammar, but is made real to the student by constant illustration from the authors read. The basis of this study is Attic prose; with this standard the usage of authors read in other periods and departments is constantly compared, and the results are fixed in the student's mind by weekly exercises in prose composition. In addition, there are outline studies of Greek history, mythology and literature, and the student enlarges his acquaintance with the Greek classics by extensive reading in English translations.

Sight translation may be given on examination.

First Year

TEXT-BOOKS—Goodwin's Grammar; Pearson's Prose Composition; Plato, Apology; Lysias, select orations; Demosthenes; Philippics; Jebb's Primer of Greek Literature. In English: Wright's Masterpieces of Greek Literature, embracing selections from epic, lyric and dramatic poetry, history, oratory and philosophy. Five times a week.

Second Year

TEXT-BOOKS—Same Grammar; Sidgwick's Prose Composition; Thucydides, Book VII; Herodotus, selections from Books VI-VII; Homer, Iliad or Odyssey, two books; Westcott and Hort's Revised Greek-English New Testament. In English: readings from the historians; the whole of the Iliad or the Odyssey; one play from each of the great dramatists, and selections from the lyric poets. Fowler's History of Greek Literature. Three times a week.

Third Year

TEXT-BOOKS—Smyth's Selection from the Greek Melic Poets; Æschylus, Prometheus Bound; Sophocles, (Edipus Tyrannus; Euripides, Medea; Aristophanes, Frogs. In English, supplementary reading in dramatic and lyric poetry, and later Greek. Fowler's History of Greek Literature. Three times a week.

Introductory Year

The purpose of this class has already been stated. Five times a week.

TEXT-BOOKS—White's First Greek Book; Goodwin's Grammar; Goodwin and White's Anabasis; Fyffe's History of Greece; Gayley's Classic Myths.

English

PROFESSOR BLACKWELL

First Year

1. HIGHER GRAMMAR AND ETYMOLOGY.—A course in advanced grammar and grammatical analysis, with an introduction to the study of Etymology. For entrance into this class see the requirements given on page 25.

TEXT-BOOKS—Dalgleish's Grammatical Analysis; a History of the English Language.

2. RHETORIC.—Style with especial study of the Sentence, the Paragraph, and the General Processes in the Ordering of Material.

TEXT-BOOK—Scott and Denney's Composition Literature; Selected English Classics.

3. SHAKSPERE.—One hour a week during the session is devoted to the reading of the historical plays of Shakspeare. The grammar and the versification of Shakspeare are also studied.

TEXT-BOOKS—Hudson's Edition of Shakspeare; Dowden's Shakspeare.

This class of the First Year meets daily. There are written exercises three times a week. A course of parallel reading is prescribed.

Second Year

1. ADVANCED RHETORIC.—Description, Narration, Exposition, Argumentation, and Persuasion. Especial attention is given to Argumentative discourse and Brief-drawing.

TEXT-BOOKS—Genung's Practical Rhetoric; Lewis' Specimens of the Forms of Discourse.

2. LITERATURE.—History of Literature; Lyric Poetry; Versification; The Epic; The Novel.

TEXT-BOOKS—Pancoast's English Literature; Pancoast's Standard English Poetry; Milton, Pope and Wordsworth are the chief authors studied; Bliss' Study of Prose Fiction.

3. OLD ENGLISH.—An elementary course in Old English, designed as introductory to the study of the history of the language.

TEXT-BOOK—Smith's Old English Grammar.

The Second Year's class meets three times a week. There are weekly exercises. This class is required for all degrees.

Third Year

1. LITERATURE.—An advanced course, devoted to the study of Tennyson, Browning, and Matthew Arnold, and to the critical examination of the chief plays of Shakspeare. Four essays are required during the year.

2. MIDDLE ENGLISH.—A short course in early Middle English, introductory to Chaucer and the study of the history of the language.

TEXT-BOOKS—Sweet's First Middle English Primer; Morris' Chaucer's Prologue and Knightes Tale; Emerson's History of the English Language.

This class meets three times a week. It is an elective for the A. M. degree.

Modern Languages

PROFESSOR EASTER

The work in this department consists, at present, of two years in French, and two in German. The general method of instruction is the same for both languages, and the end held in view is the ability to read and write the two languages with comfort and profit, and to acquire such knowledge of the spoken tongue as shall be feasible in the allotted time. In addition, the effort is made to render the student conversant with the main facts of the history, the literature and the life of the two peoples, both by work directly assigned him and by lectures, more or less informal.

Previous knowledge of either language is not made a prerequisite for entering the classes of the first year; but some antecedent training is helpful. No one will be admitted to the classes of the second year without giving satisfactory evidence of his ability to take them up with profit, as in these classes such knowledge of the language is assumed, as will render the study of the work assigned advantageous from the literary, rather than from the purely linguistic, standpoint, although this last is also here not lost from view.

In the classes of the first year, prose composition is given daily during the first weeks of the session, and, later, twice a week. In the classes of the second year, prose composition is given weekly.

A—French

First Year

Fraser and Squair's French Grammar, in toto; Kuhns' French Reader; Labiche et Martin, Le Voyage de M. Perrichon (Effinger); About, La Mère de la Marquise (Brush); Augier et Sandeau, Le Gendre de M. Poirier (Symington); Dumas, Les Trois Mousquetaires (Fontaine); Mèrimée, Colomba (Schinz). Prose composition as above noted. This class meets five times weekly.

Second Year

Fraser and Squair's French Grammar (for reference).

(a) Prose: Daudet, Contes (Cameron); Gautier, Jettatura (Schinz); Balzac, Scènes de la comédie humaine (Wells); Warren's French Prose of the XVIIIth Century (Selections).

(b) Lyric Poetry: Bowen's French Lyrics.

(c) The Drama: Molière, L'Avare (Levi), Misanthrope (Egert), Femmes savantes, Précieuses ridicules; Corneille, Le Cid, (Warren), Polyeucte (Fortier); Racine, Andromaque and Athalie (Warren); Hugo, Hernani (Matzke), Ruy Blas (Garner); Musset, Fantasio and On ne badine pas avec l'amour (McKenzie); Dumas fils, L'Ami des femmes; Rostand, Cyrano de Bergerac (Kuhns).

(d) Literature: Kastner and Atkins' Short History of French Literature is used as the basis of the work.

(e) Prose Composition: Grandgent, French Composition. Kron's French Daily Life. Weekly.

A portion of the reading above named is read privately.

This class meets three times weekly.

B—German

First Year

Whitney's Compendious German Grammar, in toto; Huss' German Reader; Heyse, L'Arrabbiata (Frost); von Hillern, Höher als die Kirche (Whittlesey); Benedix, Der Prozess and Wilhelmi, Einer muss heirathen (Wells); Gerstäcker, Germelshausen; von Wildenbruch, Das edle Blut; Prose composition as above noted.

This class meets five times weekly.

Second Year

Whitney's Compendious German Grammar (for reference); Meyer-Förster, Karl Heinrich (Sanborn); Schiller, Tell (Palmer); Lessing, Emilia Galotti (Poll); Heine, Prose Selections (Colbeck); Goethe, Faust, Part I, (Thomas); Sudermann, Frau Sorge (Grue-ner). Moore's German Literature. Harris, German Composition; Kron's German Daily Life. Prose composition weekly.

A portion of the reading above named is read privately.

This class meets three times weekly.

It should be noted that the First Year French and First Year German are required studies for all A. B. candidates.

Mathematics

PROFESSOR SMITHEY

MR. WUNDER

1. Pure Mathematics

The work of this department extends over a period of four years. The courses of the first two years are designed to give an accurate knowledge of the more elementary branches of mathematics, and to render their principles effective in developing in the student the power of independent and consecutive thought. The more advanced courses are designed for students who wish, in the degree courses, to take mathematical work in the third or the fourth year.

First Year

1. ALGEBRA AND DETERMINANTS.—Quadratic equations and simultaneous equations involving quadratics, theory of quadratic equations, imaginaries, ratio, proportion, variation, progressions, mathematical induction, permutations, combinations, partial fractions, binominal theorem, logarithms, probability. The general theory of determinants, with some of its more important applications. In addition to the regular class work, written work is required weekly.

First term, daily at 9.15 to 10.05.

TEXT-BOOKS—Bowser's College Algebra, Peck's Determinants.

2. PLANE AND SOLID GEOMETRY.—Comparison and measurement of rectilinear figures, regular polygons and circles, the line and the plane in space, polyhedra, the cone, the cylinder, the sphere and their measurements, spherical triangles. Numerous exercises. In addition to the regular class-work, written work is required weekly.

Second term, daily at 9.15 to 10.05.

TEXT-BOOK—Wentworth's Plane and Solid Geometry.

Second Year

1. PLANE AND SPHERICAL TRIGONOMETRY.—Demonstration of fundamental formulæ, proof of trigonometric identities, the theory and use of logarithmic tables, trigonometric analysis. Much attention is given to the practical solution of triangles, the solution of spherical triangles, and related problems. In addition to the regular class-work, written work is required weekly.

First term: Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday, at 8.15 to 9.15.

TEXT-BOOKS—Murray's Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Murray's Logarithmic Tables.

2. ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY.—Construction of loci, the properties of the point, straight line, circle, ellipse, hyperbola, discussion of the general equation of the second degree. In addition to the regular class-work, written work is required weekly.

Second term: Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday, at 8.15 to 9.15.

TEXT-BOOKS—Tanner and Allen's Analytic Geometry.

Third Year

1. SURVEYING.—Application of trigonometry to problems in surveying. Field practice with the compass and the theodolite.

Six weeks of first term: Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, at 11.45 to 12.35.

2. THEORY OF EQUATIONS.—General properties of equations, symmetric functions of the roots, transformation of equations, limits of the roots, separation of the roots, elimination, and the solution of numerical equations.

Twelve weeks of first term: Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, at 11.45 to 12.35.

TEXT-BOOK—Barton's Theory of Equation.

3. PRACTICAL CALCULUS.—This is an elementary course in the Differential and Integral Calculus, containing numerous geometrical and physical applications.

Second term: Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, 11.45 to 12.35.

TEXT-BOOKS—Young's and Linebarger's Elements of the Calculus.

Fourth Year

1. ANALYTICAL GEOMETRY OF THREE DIMENSIONS.—Treated by lectures.

2. ADVANCED DIFFERENTIAL AND INTEGRAL CALCULUS.—TEXT-BOOKS AND BOOKS OF REFERENCE—Macmahon and Snyder, Todhunter, Williamson, Goursat's Mathematical Analysis.

3. DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS.—Treated by lectures.

This class meets on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday at 10.05 to 10.55 throughout the year.

II. Applied Mathematics

While the College does not aim to give students a technical education, yet facilities are afforded by which a knowledge of some of the more useful applications of mathematical principles may be acquired. This is done by a separate year's work in Applied Mathematics. The subjects studied are the following:

1. LAND SURVEYING.—Computation and plotting of areas; division of areas. Field practice is given with the compass and the theodolite.

TEXT-BOOK—Carhart's Plane Surveying.

2. DESCRIPTIVE GEOMETRY.—Problems of the point, the line and the plane; surfaces—single curved and double curved; intersections, tangencies, shades and shadows, perspective, isometric projections.

TEXT-BOOK—Church's Descriptive Geometry.

Chemistry

PROFESSOR CANTER

The work in the Chemical Department is embraced in three courses of one academic year each. The work comprises courses in general inorganic chemistry, blow-pipe analysis, qualitative analysis by the wet method, quantitative analysis, gravimetric and volumetric, and preparation of organic compounds.

First Year

The work of the first year is required for the A. B. degree. For those who desire a certain amount of chemical knowledge as a part of a general education, the course is especially intended; and it forms at the same time the necessary foundation for the further study of chemistry. The descriptive study of the elements and their compounds, following the periodic classification of Mendel-éeff, will be the subject matter for lectures and recitations during most of the year. Constant practice will be had in the interpretation and use of chemical symbols, formulæ and equations. A text-book will be used, and the most important principles met with will be enlarged upon. Each student will work at least four hours per week in the laboratory.

From April till June a series of lectures is delivered on some of the compounds of carbon, and a very brief survey is made of early chemical history.

The class meets for recitation four hours per week at 12:35.

The laboratory work consists of (1) General Inorganic Experiments. Each student performs two hundred and fifty experiments illustrating the text and lectures, and writes a full account of his work; (2) A course in Blow-pipe Analysis determining metals in unknown specimens.

The laboratory work is done on Wednesday and Friday from 9:15—10:55 and from 2:25—4:15. A laboratory fee of five dollars per term is charged.

TEXT-BOOKS—Remsen's College Chemistry, 1901; Laboratory Manual to be selected; Renouf's Inorganic Preparations; Qualitative Analysis by Blow-pipe—Martin.

REFERENCE BOOKS—Inorganic Chemistry, Newth; Inorganic Chemistry, Freer; Mendeléeff's Principles of Chemistry.

Second Year

For admission to this course the student must have completed in a satisfactory manner Course I. The second year's course is elective for the A. M. degree.

A detailed study of organic chemistry will constitute the class-work for the greater part of the year. The subject will be treated by lectures and text-book will also be used. Lectures on the principles of Physical Chemistry will be given. Parallel work in chemical history will be assigned.

In the laboratory at least six hours per week will be required of each student, and for some a larger time may be necessary to complete the work. A laboratory fee of five dollars per term is charged each term. Class meets Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 8:15. Laboratory, Wednesday and Friday, 8:15—12:35.

The laboratory work is classed under three heads:

I. QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS.—The more important analytical reactions will be thoroughly studied, and the student will analyze substances by groups—both acids and bases. Complete analysis of numerous complex mixtures of acids and bases will be made, and a practical knowledge of analytical operations will be acquired.

II. QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS.—At the beginning the work will be complete gravimetric determinations of acidic and basic radicals in pure substances. This will be followed by volumetric analysis, including alkalimetry, iodometry and oxidation methods. When skill in manipulation has been acquired, the student will be assigned more difficult work—analysis of fertilizers, ores, waters.

III. ORGANIC PREPARATIONS.—The preparation of a number of organic compounds illustrating some of the more important reactions in organic chemistry completes the practical work of the year.

TEXT-BOOKS—Remsen's Organic Chemistry; Levy's Organic Preparations. Books on Qualitative and on Quantitative Analysis to be selected.

REFERENCE BOOKS—Cairn's Quantitative Analysis; Classen's Quantitative Analysis by Electrolysis; Gattermann's Organic Preparations; Berntsen's Organic Chemistry; Wanklyn's Water Analysis; Fresenius' Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis.

Third Year

For those who expect to make a special study of chemistry, either as original investigators or as teachers of chemistry, and for those who wish to become analysts in applied chemistry, this course is offered. Courses I and II in Chemistry, or the equivalent of both, and a reading knowledge of French and German, will be required for entrance. An extended course of reading in Historical Chemistry, Pure and Applied Chemistry and Journal Literature will accompany the laboratory work. The latter will consist of special quantitative methods, the testing of new methods in analysis, the preparation of advanced organic compounds and investigations in pure chemistry.

The work will be varied to suit the needs and intentions of the student.

The chemical laboratories are large, well ventilated, and well lighted rooms, supplied with modern conveniences for expeditious and accurate work. Students who take the various courses in Chemistry are given credit for the work done by Medical Schools and Engineering Schools.

A well chosen library and current numbers of several foreign and domestic chemical journals are available for reference.

Geology

PROFESSOR CANTER

The course in Geology and Mineralogy includes oral instruction and recitations two hours per week during the entire year. The work done is intended to give the student a fair knowledge of geological phenomena, and to acquaint him with many of the commonly occurring minerals. The discussion of the causes and processes of change now in operation on the earth to produce structure, is first taken up. The origin and mode of occurrence of the materials which make up the earth's crust is then studied. Specimens of the common rocks and minerals are used for illustrative purposes, and the student will be encouraged to collect and classify rock specimens. A brief outline of the principal historical features of the changes through which the earth has passed, as recorded in the successive rocks, will conclude the geological study. A suitable amount of laboratory work during the second term will be required in Mineralogy, and at least four months' work in inorganic chemistry must have been completed. Crystallography will be illustrated by models and natural crystals. The student will be familiarized with blow-pipe methods and other chemical tests for determining minerals; and such knowledge will be used in determining unnamed specimens. The museum attached to the laboratory contains an excellent collection of geological specimens, and of minerals, including all but the rarer specimens.

Additions have recently been made in the line of supplies of the more common specimens, and these will be used for analysis.

TEXT-BOOKS—The subject will be treated in 1906-1907 by lectures and by text-book, and parallel reading will be assigned.

REFERENCE BOOKS—Geikie's Geology; Scott's Geology; A System of Mineralogy, J. D. Dana.

Astronomy

Course

This class meets once a week during the entire session for recitations and lectures, and as many hours as necessary will be spent in making observations. The course is a general one and partly concerns the instruments, methods and data of practical astronomical work, partly is descriptive of the present state of astronomical knowledge. The Lutz Observatory, founded by Mrs. M. A. Lutz, in memory of her husband, F. A. Lutz, formerly a trustee of the College, is provided with sextant, transit instrument, a reflecting telescope of five inches aperture and a refracting telescope of five and a quarter inches aperture, made by Byrne, worked over by Alvan Clark & Sons. This telescope is equatorially mounted, and is provided with driving clock and graduated circles. The facilities of the Observatory are made perfectly accessible to the class.

TEXT-BOOK—Holden's Astronomy.

Physics

PROFESSOR WIGHTMAN

PROFESSOR LEWIS

Many additions and improvements have recently been made to the Physical Department, chiefly in the appliances used in the study of sound, light and electricity. For the study of sound, in addition to stock apparatus, there have been obtained tuning forks, a good siren and a set of organ pipes; for light, projection apparatus for spectrum analysis; in electricity, galvanometers, resistance boxes of most approved pattern, and an excellent X-ray outfit.

Course

GENERAL PHYSICS.—Instruction is given in two complementary parts. (a) Recitations. (b) Laboratory Work, extending throughout the year.

(a) CLASS WORK.—In recitations the class meets three times a week throughout the year. The course is elementary and general. It embraces: Mechanics of Liquids, Solids, Gases; Sound; Heat; Light; Electricity. Instruction is given chiefly by experimental lectures, and in this way parts of the text-books are largely supplemented. About two hundred and fifty demonstrations are given by the Director.

TEXT-BOOK—Lessons in Elementary Physics, Stewart, or University Physics, Carhart.

(b) LABORATORY WORK.—Two hours a week. In addition to the regular recitations, the student may be required to perform under the supervision of the Director, as thoroughly as possible, a series of experiments, repeating what was done before him in the recitations, and also performing other experiments which will be assigned to him. He thus, by experience, becomes acquainted with the fundamental laws of matter explained in his text-book.

LABORATORY MANUAL—Practical Physics, Chute; or Experimental Physics, Ames.

First year course in Mathematics, or its equivalent, is required for admission to this class.

Five dollars per term will be charged as a Laboratory fee.

Biology

PROFESSOR WIGHTMAN

PROFESSOR LEWIS

The Biological Department occupies a suite of three rooms in Science Hall. These are a lecture-room, a library and office, and a laboratory. The lecture-room is well equipped with modern conveniences. In the library and office are located the working museum and reference library. The laboratory is a large, well heated and ventilated room, with good illumination. The equipment offers an excellent opportunity for an earnest student to acquire the fundamental principles of Biology. Gas and water pipes are well distributed, a distilling apparatus furnishes an abundance of distilled water, while incubators, microtomes, microscopes, plethysmographs, tambours, sphygmographs, myographs, an artificial heart and blood-vascular system, and skeletons, mounted and disarticulated, are some of the appliances used by the student.

Courses

Two courses in Biology are offered, each a year in length.

First Year

GENERAL BIOLOGY.—The purpose of this course is to survey the living world by the study of typical forms. No attempt is made to develop botanists, zoologists or physiologists; but the chief aim is to put within the student's grasp a knowledge of the broad principles underlying the structure and physiology of living things by a study of the characteristics of living matter, of the phenomena of growth, development and reproduction, and of comparative anatomy.

The following are some of the topics discussed: The bacteria, including the diseases of plants and animals, with their causes and prevention; the principles of hygiene, the digestion and assimilation of food, heredity, the influence of education, and many sociological problems, such as the effect of food and habit on the working power of the race. Instruction is given by means of (a) Lectures, (b) Laboratory Work.

(a) LECTURES.—Three hours a week throughout the year. This course will embrace a comparative study of living things—animal and vegetable. Beginning with such simple microscopic organisms as the Yeast plant and the Amœba, the student will be led to consider successively higher types chosen from the great classes of the animal and vegetable kingdoms until he reaches such a complex organism, as a common flower, the buttercup, and a typical mammal—the rat or rabbit. The work of the year will include the study of Embryology and phanerogamic Botany. In Embryology the development of the chick will be taken as a type; in Botany special attention will be paid to the methods of collecting, preserving and classifying specimens.

(b) LABORATORY WORK.—Four hours a week throughout the year. Each student is supplied with reagents and instruments and with a table, a microscope, and all apparatus necessary for successful work. About fifteen typical forms are studied. The order of work is from the simpler to the more complex organisms. The principles of microscopy, the handling, staining, mounting, and sketching of specimens, and the comparison of one form with another are essential features of the work. About five weeks are given to Embryology. Each student is required to hand in a selected herbarium properly arranged and mounted.

A laboratory fee of five dollars per term is charged. .

One year's work in Physics is required for admission to this course.

Second Year

COMPARATIVE ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY.—The aim of this year's work is to enable students to become familiar with the principles of Biology manifested in man and the higher animals. In this class, also, instruction will be given by means of (a) Lectures, and (b) Laboratory Work. The lectures will be amply supplemented by suitable demonstrations, and in the laboratory the student becomes acquainted by experience with the details of microscopy and with the methods of experimental physiology. The following synopsis of the course will give an idea of its scope:

(a) LECTURES.—Three hours a week throughout the year. The subjects embraced in this course are—

- (1) Comparative anatomy of mammalia.
- (2) Microscopic anatomy of man and higher animals.
- (3) Physiology and hygiene of man.

(b) LABORATORY WORK.—Six hours a week throughout the year.

(1) Dissection of dog or rabbit. About five weeks are given to this work. Included in it is a study of human Osteology. As guides, Howell's Dissection of a Dog or Parker's Zootomy and Gray's Anatomy are followed.

(2) Preparation and microscopic examination of the tissues of man and the higher animals. Almost every tissue and organ of the human body is microscopically studied. This work includes the details of microscopic technique, as the killing, hardening, imbedding, cutting and staining of preparations, the injections of organs, and the sketching of the sections prepared by the student. Böhm and Davidoff's Histology is used.

(3) Demonstrations and experiments on the physiology of the organs of man and the higher animals. Close attention is paid to the working of muscles, the innervation of the heart, vaso-motor effects, digestion and assimilation, respiration, excretion, and the functions of the central nervous system. Suitable apparatus is at the basis of work.

A laboratory fee of five dollars per term is charged.

For admission into this course one year's work in Chemistry and Physics is required.

Preliminary Medical Course

Randolph-Macon College is in no sense a technical school. Many young men, however, are looking forward to the study of medicine after the completion of their regular A. B. course. To these young men it will be most advantageous to incorporate into their studies all the courses in Chemistry, Biology and Physics. These studies form the basis of modern medicine. Such a young man will then secure not only the mental development due to systematic collegiate work, but, in addition, will have laid a firm foundation for his professional course.

Branch Historical Papers are published annually under the auspices of the Vaughan Department of History. They include the best of the prize studies submitted in the contest for the Bennett History Medal. They also include such documentary matter bearing on the characters studied as seem to merit publication.

The Bennett History Medal is awarded to the author of the best paper submitted by any student of Randolph-Macon on some subject in Virginia history. Papers to be submitted on or before May 10th of each year to the Professor of History. The right to withhold the medal is reserved when papers do not reach a fairly high standard of excellence. Condition for entering upon the contest is the satisfactory completion of either history 1 or 2.

The History and Political Science Library is open to students engaged on debates for annual celebrations of the Literary Societies, to those who represent the college in intercollegiate discussions and to members of the current events class. The room in which this library is housed was fitted out by Mr. P. V. D. Conway, who has also contributed to the room a new and up-to-date encyclopedia.

The I. N. Vaughan History Library is an adjunct to the department of history and political science. It is a collection of books on history alone and is used in connection with the daily work of instruction. The founder, Mrs. I. N. Vaughan, adds to it annually.

Moral Philosophy

PROFESSOR BENNETT

We divide this course of instruction into two parts, of one year each, with subjects and recitations, as follows:

First Year

1. PSYCHOLOGY.—The two-fold nature of man, physical and psychical, and the intimate relation of each to the other, is fully recognized; some of the attainments of Physiological Psychology are passed under review, yet attention is especially devoted to the discussion of mind and its activities as revealed in consciousness. Lectures are delivered upon the text by the professor as occasion demands. Four recitations a week for the space of ten to twelve weeks.

TEXT-BOOK—Murray's Psychology.

2. LOGIC.—This study is inclusive of Deductive and Inductive Logic. Familiarity with the principles of the Science and with the laws of the Syllogism is insured, as far as practicable, by frequent reviews and by special work assigned the student from week to week. Four recitations a week until the study is completed.

TEXT-BOOK—Creighton's Logic.

REFERENCE BOOK—The Theory of Thought, Davis.

3. ETHICS.—Avoiding, as far as possible, the discussion of purely speculative questions, the effort is made to give the student a clear and comprehensive system of morals which will prove of practical service in life.

TEXT-BOOK—Elements of Ethics, Davis.

Second Year

1. HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY.—Beginning with the Greek School of Philosophy and coming down to the present day, the different periods of thought are marked off and their interdependence and relative value in the construction of systems are carefully indicated. Three recitations a week.

TEXT-BOOK—Roger's History of Philosophy.

2. METAPHYSICS.—Few studies have experienced a more varied fortune than this. At one time it was crowned as the Queen of the Sciences; at another time it has been discarded as altogether vain and profitless; and now, to-day, after years of comparative neglect, it is brought again into prominent notice, and is everywhere accepted as an important factor in the ultimate determination of truth.

In this department as thorough an investigation is given of reality and of the higher problems of speculative philosophy as the limited time allotted to their study will permit.

TEXT-BOOK—Bowne's Metaphysics.

3. THEISM.—Believing that God is a fact of Philosophy as well as of Theology, and that a knowledge of the arguments upon which His existence is predicted is helpful in the struggle of life, the study of Theism is incorporated into the curriculum of the College and receives careful and thoughtful consideration.

TEXT-BOOK—Flint's Theism.

The English Bible

PROFESSOR BENNETT

This department has been established with special reference to the needs of students who from any cause are unable to avail themselves of larger and more thorough equipment for the Christian ministry. There are two courses of study, as follows:

First Year

1. BIBLE HISTORY.—Three recitations a week.

TEXT-BOOKS—The Bible, Blaikie's Bible History, Hurlbut's Bible Atlas, Cowan's Landmarks of Church History.

PARALLEL READING—Schaff's Through Bible Lands; Stalker's Life of Paul.

2. BIBLE INTRODUCTIONS.

TEXT-BOOKS—Stalker's Life of Christ; Robertson's The Old Testament and Its Contents; McClymont's The New Testament and Its Writers.

PARALLEL READING—Bernard's Progress of Doctrine in the New Testament.

Second Year

1. DOCTRINES OF CHRISTIANITY.

TEXT-BOOK—Bank's Manual of Christian Doctrine, as basis for lectures.

2. HOMILETICS AND PRACTICAL THEOLOGY.

TEXT-BOOK—The Ministry to the Congregation (Kern); and lectures.

PARALLEL READING—Sermons by distinguished divines as appointed.

Especial emphasis is laid throughout the entire course upon the importance of a thorough knowledge of the Bible and its history; and readiness and accuracy in exegesis are fostered by the constant practice during the second year in the analysis and discussion of texts.

Graduation in this department will be allowed only to students who have passed an approved examination upon the studies embraced in the first course of the School of English.

Physical Culture

DIRECTOR BURGE

In adding this department to the College, the Trustees had in view two well-established facts:

FIRST. That to maintain the best results in intellectual work, the student must have a healthy, vigorous frame, in order to stand the heavy drain made upon his system by constant mental application.

SECOND. That the period between sixteen and twenty-six years of age furnishes the best opportunity for overcoming hereditary defects, for filling out undeveloped parts of the body, and for building up for the work of life a sound constitution.

To accomplish the first end, students, on entering this department, are divided into classes that meet three times weekly. The instructor sees that they exercise regularly and sufficiently, and yet do not go beyond their strength. The apparatus used for these classes are dumb-bells, clubs, wands, ladders, vaulting-horses, and chest-weights.

The second object is more especially the scientific aim of this department. Each student, on entrance, is measured by the director, and his strength tested in every way by instruments specially made for this purpose. These measurements, compared with the standards taken according to height, show him where he is physically most deficient.

To secure a degree a student must attain an average mark of eighty on the work covering a session of his college course.

Athletics

Believing that Athletics, when properly conducted, are of great benefit to students engaged in them, encouragement is given to this side of College life. Football, baseball, basketball, la-crosse, tennis and track teams, have opportunity for practise on the excellent athletic grounds of the College; and, under proper restrictions, the teams are allowed to participate in intercollegiate contests both on our own field and elsewhere. To engage in any intercollegiate contest a student is required to maintain satisfactory weekly average standing on all of his studies.

Leave of absence for the purpose of playing intercollegiate match games not exceeding four days in a session may be granted to the baseball team and the football team. Before a team can leave college to play a match game, the following conditions must be complied with:

1. All debts which the Athletic Association may have previously incurred must have been paid in full.
2. The Athletic Association must have in its treasury enough cash to pay the estimated necessary expenses of the trip. Guarantees, made by competing teams and subscriptions by responsible persons, may be regarded as cash.

Expenses

The authorities of the College encourage the practice of economy on the part of its students and we hope their parents and guardians as well as the students themselves, will cooperate with us in this matter. However the expenses of students vary according to their habits and inclinations.

Below is given an estimated cost per student for a collegiate term. The fees for a session are twice these amounts.

Fees

THE TUITION FEE of $37.50 is intended to cover the cost of tuition regardless of the number of classes or schools taken by the student.

THE COLLEGE FEE of $10.00 is a contribution to the general expense of maintenance and also entitles a student to free use of the libraries and reading rooms.

THE MEDICAL FEE of $2.50 includes unlimited professional services of the College physician, and use of the hospital and its equipments.

Special Fees

THE PHYSICAL CULTURE FEE of $2.50 is charged only to those who take the course of this department, or desire the use of the gymnasium.

THE CHEMICAL LABORATORY FEE of $5.00 is charged only to those who are students in the Chemical Department and is for the purpose of covering the cost of water, gas, chemicals, etc., actually consumed in its laboratories.

THE BIOLOGICAL LABORATORY FEE of $5.00 is charged only to those who are students in the Biological Department, for the extra expense of its laboratories.

THE PHYSICAL LABORATORY FEE of $5.00 is charged only to those who are students in the Physics Department, for the extra expense of its laboratories.

A DAMAGE FEE of $1.25 per term will be charged each student, said fee to be returnable at the end of the session, after deducting the pro rata share of damage done the property of the College during the session.

Dormitories

COTTAGE SYSTEM: There are four frame cottages conveniently grouped in the Northeast corner of the campus. Each cottage is two stories high with four rooms on a floor. The rooms have two large windows each facing in different directions thus insuring plenty of sunlight and fresh air. The College furnishes only a skeleton wardrobe to each room. A term rental of $4.50 per student will be charged for these rooms, two in a room, or $6.00 per student, one in a room. We reserve the right, however, to place a room mate at any time with a student occupying a room to himself.

A bed, bureau, wash-stand, table, chairs, stove and a student's lamp is all that is needed to furnish a room in these buildings.

BRANCH MEMORIAL DORMITORY: This handsome building is a recent gift of Mr. John P. Branch of Richmond, Va. in memory of his late wife, Mary Louisa Merritt Kerr Branch.

It has not yet been occupied, having just been completed the first of June. This Dormitory is shaped like an E without the middle prong. Though it appears to be one large building in reality it is three separate buildings of practically the same size and plan having no inside communication with each other. In this way long corridors have been eliminated and the rooms are grouped around the entrance thus insuring its occupants against the noise and tramp incident to long corridors and large buildings.

Each room has a large closet, the double rooms having two, and every eight rooms have a separate lavatory with stationary wash stands and shower bath, etc. The building is heated by steam and lighted by gas, for which there is no extra charge.

A term rental of $12.50 per student will be charged for one of these double rooms—two in a room, or a single room for $17.50 one (only) in a room.

An iron bed, bureau, table, chairs and a drop gas lamp is all that is necessary to furnish a room in this building, and the same can be secured at reasonable cost from old students, or from merchants in the town.

A student occupying a double room alone will be charged full rent for room and we reserve the right to place a roommate with him at any time.

A deposit of fifty cents will be required for each key furnished; which amount will be refunded upon return of key.

No sub-letting of rooms in part or whole will be allowed at any time.

Students desiring to change quarters must secure permission to do so from the Secretary and Treasurer.

Miscellaneous Information

Laundry can be secured at $4.50 to $6.00 per term.

Furnished rooms may be engaged in the town at 18.00 to $27.00 per term.

Board may be obtained in approved private families at $45.00 to $63.00 per term.

Estimated Cost Per Term

	Low	Average
Tuition, College and Medical Fees.....	$ 50.00	$ 50.00
Laundry, etc. ....	5.00	7.00
Room rent including fuel and light.....	12.50	17.50
Table-board.....	45.00	63.00
	112.50	137.50
Privilege student, Less.....	37.50	37.50
(Twice this is the estimated amount per session).	75.00	100.00

This does not include books, clothing, pocket money and traveling expenses, or damage fee which is returnable.

Terms of Payment

All college fees and room rents are due the first of each term and are required strictly in advance. No refunding or deduction in these fees will be made except in the tuition fee, and then only when a student is disqualified for work by severe illness for more than a half term.

When two or more students from one family attend any of the Randolph Macon institutions the same term a discount of ten per cent on the tuition fee will be allowed to each.

Damages

We require a contingent fee from which all damage to college property can be paid, but any student who may commit damage to any property of the College is expected to report the same to the Secretary and Treasurer and pay the cost of repairs. In the case of unreported damages, the cost of repairs will be paid out of this fund.

Privileged Students

All students preparing for the ministry are exempt from tuition fee. Such students are required to bring the recommendation from their preacher in charge and from the Local Board of Education or Quarterly Conference of the pastoral charge to which they belong, and to give conditional bonds for the payment of their tuition fee, which bond becomes null and void upon their devoting ten consecutive years to the work of the ministry of an evangelical church after completing their education.

The sons of itinerant ministers of the Virginia and Baltimore Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South are also educated without charge for tuition.

Aid Funds and Scholarship

THE ROBERT J. ANDERSON MINISTERIAL AID FUND.—This fund, consisting of $2,000, was given by Mr. A. H. Anderson, of Greenbrier county, West Virginia, in memory of a son who died in early manhood. The money is loaned to students for the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South—the borrower giving a bond satisfactorily indorsed, which begins to bear interest at the close of his course at R. M. C.

THE MINNIE A. WINCH MINISTERIAL AID FUND.—By the will of Mrs. M. A. Winch, a Christian woman rich in good works, the sum of $1,000 was given for the benefit of students for the ministry and sons of ministers at the College—the borrower giving a bond satisfactorily indorsed, which begins to bear interest at the close of his course at R. M. C.

THE A. G. PRITCHETT MINISTERIAL AID FUND.—The dividend from this fund, amounting to $100 per annum, is loaned to any young man studying for the ministry nominated by Mr. John Inge Pritchett, its founder, or in case he fails to nominate, to some worthy applicant, preference being given to one from Pittsylvania county, Va.

THE R. S. PAULETT MINISTERIAL AID FUND is loanable on the same terms as the Anderson Fund.

THE RICHIE VAUGHAN LOAN AND AID FUND.—This fund, consisting of $10,000 was established through the liberality of Mrs. Emma Lee Vaughan, in memory of her son, Richie Vaughan of Hanover county and an old student of the College. The annual income of the fund is to be used in scholarships and loans, for the benefit of students who may need such assistance, preference being given to young men of Hanover county. The Vaughan Scholarship aids the recipient annually to the amount of his tuition fees—that is, seventy-five dollars. Frequently a fractional part of a scholarship is awarded. When loans are made the borrower gives a bond satisfactorily indorsed, bearing interest from date.

THE THOMAS C. AND ELLA WILLIAMS SCHOLARSHIP FUND.—This fund consists of $10,000, $5,000 being given by Mrs. Ella Williams in memory of her husband, Mr. Thomas C. Williams, and the other $5,000 by her children in memory of their mother. The interest of this money is to be used in scholarships.

All applicants for scholarships and loans must be satisfactorily certified:

1. As needing the benefit, on account of want of means.
2. As fitted and prepared for the regular College course.
3. As studious young men, of good moral character and habits.

Applications for scholarships and loans should be made as early as practicable, and should be addressed to Wm. S. Brown, Secretary and Treasurer, R. M. College, for approval by Executive Committee having such matters in charge.

Endowment

Very considerable additions have in latter years been made to the endowment funds of the College, enabling us to offer increased facilities to the young men who are seeking to prepare themselves for useful and successful lives. Contributions to this fund are investments which will yield rich returns in the benefits conferred on the youth of our own generation and of those who shall come after, and through them on Church and State. It is hoped that those who contemplate such benefactions will embrace the present occasion, when special effort is being made to increase the endowment, and when their example will encourage and stimulate others, and thus multiply the gift. Correspondence upon this subject is solicited by the President.

We would also call the attention of those who desire, by deed of gift or legacy, to advance the cause of Christian education, to the advisability of placing their contributions with an institution of established character and permanent and extended field of usefulness. Every addition to its attractions makes preceding gifts more valuable, and the new contribution is in turn more useful because of the foundation laid by previous benefactions. There is no danger that, from insufficient support, the donation may fail to accomplish its beneficent purposes.

FORM OF LEGACY.—“I give and bequeath to The Trustees of Randolph-Macon College, at Ashland, Virginia, the sum of———dollars, for the benefit of said Institution.”

Deeds of gift should be made to “The Trustees of Randolph-Macon College,” and attested as similar deeds of gift in other cases.

 Applications for rooms, or for further information should be addressed to Mr. WM. S. BROWN, Secretary and Treasurer, Ashland, Va.

The Randolph-Macon System

THE RANDOLPH-MACON SYSTEM of Colleges and Academies comprises now five members, offering secondary and collegiate instruction to both sexes, but in separate institutions. Those for young men and boys are: (1) Randolph-Macon College, at Ashland, Va., chartered in 1830; (2) Randolph-Macon Academy, at Bedford City, Va., established in 1890; (3) Randolph-Macon Academy, at Front Royal, Va., established in 1892. Those for young women and girls are: Randolph-Macon Woman's College, at Lynchburg, Va., established in 1893; and Randolph-Macon Institute, Danville, Va., admitted 1897.

These five institutions are owned by one chartered, self-perpetuating Board of Trustees, to which public-spirited men and women have entrusted large means for the purpose of providing facilities for the education of young men and women under Christian influences. It is not sought nor desired in any of these institutions to influence the denominational preferences of students, but the officers in charge consider themselves under obligations to conform to the moral standards and religious usages of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, under whose auspices the institutions were established. These schools and colleges are but the contribution of members of that church and of other patrons of education who have confidence in its administration of such trusts, to the uplifting of the world by means of education. The work is entirely benevolent. There are no stockholders, nor are the executive officers financially interested. The funds contributed for the purpose are applied to the best advantage for the making of strong and noble men and women and the benefits of facilities are open alike to all of any and every denomination; its loan-funds and scholarships are awarded to needy and worthy students without discrimination.

The organization of these separate institutions into one system is designed to secure certain definite advantages.

Saving Time

First, The close correlation of the courses of the Academies with those of Randolph-Macon College and of the Institute with those of the Woman's College should result in a distinct saving of time, and hence of expense, to the student. School and college working in thorough harmony with each other, belonging indeed to one Board and under the supervision of one general officer, should more certainly make their work continuous and apply labor with less waste than where separate ends and ideals are proposed and independent courses are offered.

Economy and Permanence

Secondly, The combination of resources resulting from the ownership of the five institutions by one Board secures abundant financial facilities, commanding the best prices and largest discounts. The responsibility of the Board as a chartered corporation being undoubted, and the permanence of its general work being assured, confidence follows all its undertakings and strength is given each institution. In educational work it is especially desirable that parents and students be assured of the permanence of the institutions which they are invited to patronize and whose influence may become important to them.

Opportunity for Selecting Teachers

Thirdly, For the preceding reasons and others which might be named, positions in the System are specially attractive, and choice teachers are at all times available for the corps of instructors.

In most cases of teachers selected for the Academies those chosen have been for years under the instruction of our own College faculties and are known to us personally and intimately. Testimonials are proverbially of little worth, but constant and long-continued contact with the developing student enables one to select with confidence the capable teacher.

Experienced Supervision

Fourthly, Experienced supervision is secured in having a Board in charge that has conducted such work for seventy-five years and from the continuous counsel and supervision of the Chancellor of the System and his special services for the special need of any institution.

These advantages of correlation aimed at, and to a degree at least realized in the Randolph-Macon System, are added to the individual excellences of the several institutions as presented in their respective catalogues.

The System in 1905-1906 employed about one hundred officers and teachers and enrolled over nine hundred students.

Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va.

Offers to young women prepared to enter college a full literary curriculum equal to that given in our best colleges for men.

Also strong courses in Music and Art.

This college is classed by the U. S. Commissioner of Education as one of the fourteen colleges for women in the United States entitled to rank in "Division A."

Full department of Physical Training with three instructors, well equipped gymnasium, tennis and basket ball courts, boat-house with row boats, canoes, etc., and four-mile boating beach; fifty acres of campus with two miles of prepared walks.

Handsome and commodious dormitories with modern conveniences to accommodate four hundred students. Faculty of forty-five officers and teachers. Four laboratories with superior equipment.

For catalogue address,

REGISTRAR,
College Park, Lynchburg, Va.

---

Randolph-Macon Institute, Danville, Va.

The Institute offers the best advantages to a limited number of pupils.

The buildings are equipped with modern comforts and conveniences.

An ideal home school. The boarding department has accommodations for only forty pupils, and these are associated constantly with the ten members of the faculty living in the building. The attendance has steadily grown. During 1905-6, one hundred and seventeen students were enrolled. Forty boarders from nine states, and seventy-seven day students, from the city of Danville.

The course of study meets fully the maximum college entrance requirements, and in addition offers classes that allow those young ladies, not wishing to go to college, to get a well-rounded education.

The Faculty is made up of experienced teachers, full graduates of the best colleges and universities.

Our rates are low for the advantages offered.

For catalogue and further information, address

Randolph-Macon Academy, Bedford City, Va.

For Boys and Young Men

Prepares boys and young men for College, University or Business Life. The Academy has been in successful operation for 16 years and has trained in that time about 1500 students. Its work has been endorsed by over thirty colleges and universities; 260 degrees, classical and professional, have been conferred, since 1895, by these institutions on students trained at the Academy.

The list of those applying for degrees, this year numbers 26, the largest in the Academy's history; the applicants are to be found at such well known institutions as: Leipzig University (Germany), Johns Hopkins, University of Virginia, Randolph-Macon College, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, University College of Medicine, University of Maryland, etc.

Growth: The Academy's growth has been regular and continuous.

A LIST OF STUDENTS ATTENDING Randolph-Macon College

From 1857 to 1905

Students are entered the last session in attendance.

Great difficulty has attended the preparation of this list, and it is yet in many respects imperfect. It is desired to secure the present address of all old students. Information on this subject sent to the Secretary of the College at Ashland, Va., will be appreciated.
